

JENNINGS TELLS AMAZING STORY OF ALLEGED DEALS

SHOWDOWN ON MELLON TAX BILL IS EXPECTED

WARRING HOUSE G. O. P. FACTIONS AGREE ON PLAN

Democrats and Insurgent Republicans Will Defeat Program

Washington, March 27.—A general tax bill that has for its maximum surtax 40 per cent instead of the 37 1-2 that finally was agreed upon between the warring Republican factions in the house and incorporated in the Longworth compromise, will in prospect today as the senate finance committee continued to wrestle with the measure.

A survey of sentiment in the senate indicated that it is going to outdo the house in wrecking the carefully prepared scale of rates originally laid down by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, calling for a normal tax rate of 2 per cent and a maximum surtax of 25 per cent.

The action of Republican leaders in writing the Mellon rates back into the bill was merely a gesture. It was designed to force a showdown vote on the original Mellon bill, possibly to further demonstrate to President Coolidge the utter hopelessness of trying to pass the Mellon bill as originally written.

Once the Mellon rates are voted down, as they will be on the first showdown, the Democrats and Insurgent-Republicans can get together and as in the house, write their own figures into the bill. They plan to leave the normal tax as fixed by Longworth, at 2 per cent and raise the maximum surtax to 40 per cent. Some are even predicting 44 per cent but the majority opinion favors 40.

The lineup in the senate is almost identical with that of the house—the Republican Regulars favoring the 25 per cent surtax, the Insurgents favoring 50 per cent and the Democrats striking the middle ground of 40. On a showdown the LaFollette Insurgents will come down to the Democratic figure because they have no other place to go. And, as demonstrated in a score of tests, the Democrats and the Insurgents can control legislation any time they stick together.

While this situation is well known to the White House, President Coolidge remains non-committal as to his own attitude toward the compromise measure. He has consistently declined to state his position toward the Longworth compromise, and those who have talked tax matters with him differ in their opinions as to his course once the general tax bill is put on his desk.

Had the resolution providing a separate 25 per cent reduction on 1923 incomes gone through, as urged by the president and Secretary Mellon, there is little doubt that he would have vetoed the general tax bill and rested his optical fortunes on the November referendum.

But with an election approaching, the country aroused for tax reduction and the issue presented to the White House of accepting either the compromise tax bill or nothing, the belief persists in well informed quarters that the president will be compelled to approve the bill. His political advisers have assured him that the country would not understand his refusal to accept any bill bringing much desired tax relief and would undoubtedly hold him and the Republican party responsible for failure of tax reduction.

INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Detroit, Mich., March 27.—E. J. Osborn, of Akron, is in Receiving Hospital in a serious condition and E. J. Stone, Detroit, faces police investigation, following a crash between Stone's automobile and a city truck today. Osborn was thrown through the windshield, suffering severe injuries on the head. Stone received minor cuts and bruises.

JOHNSON ASSUMES LEAD OVER COOLIDGE IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Stout Falls, S. D., March 27.—Senator Johnson drew away slightly from President Coolidge in the close race for South Dakota's presidential endorsement and with reports of additional precincts today had increased his lead over the president to 394. The vote from 1,370 precincts stood:

Johnson, 35,217.

Coolidge, 35,223.

The remaining precincts to be heard from are in country districts where Senator Johnson's supporters claim he will make further gains. Succeeding returns from the rural districts which were conceded to be Johnson strongholds saw the president's majority reduced from the 3,000 lead he held early yesterday to half that before night.

In the nine o'clock returns last night, he still was ahead by 1,000, but in the succeeding two hours, this advantage disappeared and the

FOUR ARE DEAD IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Lakeside, Mich., March 27.—Four persons are dead today after an automobile accident on the Chicago road, in which their car skidded into a ditch, upsetting. A fifth owes his life to the fact that passing motorists rescued him after he had been pinned in the water an hour.

HUNT SUSPECT IN MURDER OF YOUNG MOTHER

Clues Followed by Police After Death On Staten Island.

New York, March 27.—Ten days before Mrs. Made A. Bauer, attractive young mother of two children was brutally slain in a secluded spot in Staten Island, a bad complexioned man annoyed her, police were told today.

This man answers the general description of the "man in the closed car," who gave Mrs. Bauer a lift less than half an hour before she was found dead Tuesday evening.

Mrs. George F. Pero, mother of Mrs. Bauer, informed detectives that her daughter had casually mentioned having been followed by a man in a Ford sedan from the ferry to her home.

The man saw Mrs. Bauer get on a trolley for home. He came abreast of the trolley several times in his sedan grinning at her, apparently signaling invitations to leave the car and get into his machine. She ignored him.

Police of Staten Island, have received many complaints in the past two months from women who said they had been annoyed by a man who insisted they ride with him.

Detectives now are working on the theory that this was the man who offered Mrs. Bauer a lift to the nearest garage when her car became mired in a lonely section and killed her less than 300 yards from where her mother and her two children waited in the stalled automobile. The fact that Mrs. Bauer's slayer carried a pistol has led many detectives to the belief that he is a maniac and a degenerate.

SIXTY ARE KILLED IN LANDSLIDE IN ITALY IS REPORT

Rome, March 27.—More than 100 persons were killed, hundreds were injured and more than 1,000 made homeless by a terrific hurricane which swept the Amalfi district, said a dispatch from that place this afternoon. King Victor Emanuel will leave for the storm zone tonight.

Pope Pius XI contributed $1,200 for the relief of the storm sufferers. Many foreign tourists were in the district but so far as known, no Americans were injured.

Amalfi, on the Gulf of Salerno, is situated picturesquely on the summits of lofty rocks, crowned with embattled walls and ruined towers.

The port suffered from a landslide in January, 1900, when a portion of the promontory on which it is situated fell into the sea.

The mediaeval Hotel Capuccini, convento, in the old Capuchin monastery, which is visited by all tourists, is threatened with collapse.

Landslides reached the famous hostelry of the monks, causing the terrace, which permitted of a magnificent view of the coast for miles, to cave in.

FIGURES IN THE NEWS OF THE DAY.

Below: FRED W. UPHAM & WILLIAM H. ANDERSON

An alleged plot to force Edsel Ford, son of Henry Ford, to pay $1,000,000 under threat to blind his three children was uncovered by the arrest in Detroit of a man and a woman after the man had picked up a box full of stage money. William H. Anderson, former head of the Anti-Saloon League of New York and a national figure in the prohibition movement, has been sent to State's prison at Ossining (Sing Sing), N. Y., to serve a sentence of from one to two years after conviction of forgery. Dorothy Gordon, member of an exclusive Boston family and heiress to an estate of $500,000, has obtained her release from the McLean Asylum at Waverly, where she had been held three years. She had been the centre of a legal battle involving her guardian and relatives. It was charged she was "railroaded" to the asylum in order that her fortune might be placed in other hands. Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, summoned to Washington in the oil lease investigation, wired the Senate Committee he could not reach there at the time he was directed to appear and that he did not know when he would go.

OHIO MAYOR ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY TO VIOLATE LAW

Toledo, March 27.—Mayor Shover, of Harbor View, was arrested at his home this morning charged with conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition act.

The arrest was made by Homer Varyan, federal enforcement officer and local detectives.

Deputy Marshals Neipp and Peter Crane were also arrested and are held on charges of conspiracy and a charge of transporting from possessing and sale of liquor. The officers who arrested the two deputies claim they heard Neipp tell a proprietor of a soft drink parlor in East Toledo that he had five cartons of Canadian beer containing twenty-four quarts to the carton, which he would sell for $5 a carton. The soft drink dealer agreed to purchase the beer, officers said, and they placed Neipp under arrest.

A block away they found Crane in a new roadster. Stored in the rear of the car, they say, they found the five cartons of beer.

EXPECT POINCARE WILL CONTINUE IN PREMIER'S OFFICE

Paris, March 27.—Premier Raymond Poincare, who resigned with his cabinet yesterday when the government was defeated in the chamber of deputies upon a vote of confidence, began conferring early today with officials and it was understood he would continue in office if he obtained pledges from leaders of parliament that his policies would be supported.

Poincare, upon leaving the foreign office for the Elysee palace to consult with President Millerand, told reporters he had not yet made up his mind. "I will be unable to reply definitely to President Millerand's overtures until additional conferences this afternoon," said the premier.

President Millerand exerted all his personal influence to retain Premier Poincare in office. The president is determined that Poincare's policies shall continue in effect even if the premier retires.

Following the conference between the premier and the president, a communique was issued at the Elysee palace saying:

"M. Poincare is continuing his conversations. He will revisit President Millerand later in the day."

All newspapers joined in demanding that Poincare retain his post.

RED HATS DONNED BY NEW CARDINALS

Rome, March 27.—Impressive splendor marked the public consistory in St. Peter's cathedral today when Pope Pius XI bestowed the red hat, the evening insignia of their new dignity upon Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago and Cardinal Hayes, of New York.

This was the first time since the ecclesiastical council in 1870 that the historic cathedral was the scene of ceremonies attending the bestowal of the red hat of the cardinalate. That part of the mighty church reserved for spectators was filled with a large crowd, estimated at nearly 5,000, from all parts of the world. All were thrilled by the grandeur of the scene and the impressiveness of the ritual.

JURY RESUMES DELIBERATIONS

Cincinnati, O., March 27.—After spending the night at a hotel, the jury in the murder case of Lester Davis, alias Clarence Cross of Portsmouth, O., resumed deliberations today. They were locked up for the night when they had failed to reach a verdict at midnight.

Davis was tried for the second time on a charge of murder growing out of the killing of an alleged candid pal. Two men pleaded guilty and are serving life sentences.

REFORMED TRAIN ROBBER TAKES PART IN PROBE

Relates Alleged Statement of Jake Hamon at Convention.

Washington, March 27.—Al Jennings, reformed bandit and train robber, about whose picturesque career has been spun many tales of fiction, related to the senate oil committee a colorful and amazing story today of the alleged "deals" that were consummated between prominent Republicans at the Chicago convention in 1920.

Smiling and affable, Jennings told the committee of his intimacy with the late Jake Hamon, Oklahoma oil man and political boss, and swore that Hamon told him it cost him (Hamon) $1,000,000 "to nominate Harding" and get the promise for the secretaryship of the interior for himself.

Dead men again figured largely in the story, Jennings quoting Hamon as saying that he had "already paid Boies Penrose $250,000."

These conversations with Hamon, the ex-bandit said, occurred in Hamon's room in a Chicago hotel the night before Harding was nominated.

"Jake told me Harding was to be nominated," said Jennings.

"He said it would cost him 'like hell' and that it would amount to $1,000,000. He said he had already given Boies Penrose $250,000."

"It had been agreed," continued Jennings, "by Harry Daugherty and Will Hays and someone else, from Ohio, that Hamon was to be secretary of the interior. Hamon was going to lease the naval oil reserves to private interests after he got in. However, there was a fight over it and it cost a lot of money."

"Did Hamon say he had given money to anyone besides Penrose?" asked Senator Dill of Washington.

"Yes, $25,000 to Daugherty, $25,000 to Hays and $25,000 to a fourth man from Ohio, with a name something like Manning."

"Did Hamon spend any other money?" asked Dill.

"Yes, indeed," replied Jennings.

"He told me 'it cost like hell' to get the New York delegation."

"Hamon told me that he (Hamon) was going to be president of the United States," said Jennings.

"Did he say the year?" asked Spencer.

"No, he said he was going to put Harding in first."

Jennings said Hamon had urged him to run for governor of Oklahoma in 1920 on the Democratic ticket "in order to disrupt the party and thus carry the state for Harding."

"I was to be the 'goat,'" he said.

"Hamon also told me that he spent $500,000 in throwing Oklahoma to Harding."

"Did Hamon go to Chicago in favor of Leonard Wood?" asked Senator Bursum, Republican of New Mexico.

"No, he did not like Wood," replied Jennings, "because he was too honest 'like that damn fool Theodore Roosevelt.'"

Jennings was then excused and Senators Walsh and Spencer continued the proceedings with an acrimonious tilt that started when Walsh read a newspaper article declaring "Senator" Spencer raps Teapot Dome inquiry.

The article was based on a speech Spencer made in New York. The account further said that Spencer charged "that leasing of reserves occurred under the administration of Secretary of the Interior Lane."

"I think the senator (Spencer) should explain this article," demanded Walsh.

"Before my speech in New York," replied Spencer, "I said that the Republican and Democratic parties were involved equally in the oil mess. The same things happened in Secretary Lane's administration. The oil hearing is accomplishing very little at a terrific cost and the people are getting tired of it, despite big headlines in the newspapers."

"There is just as much impropriety in making this political speech as for the senator (Spencer) to have made the statement he did about the investigation," Walsh snapped savagely.

"Well there was just as much impropriety in the senator (Walsh) going on E. L. Doheny's private car and eliciting information from him in advance of a hearing," reported Spencer.

"I never saw Doheny's car and was never on it—that is my reply to you," Walsh fairly screamed. "If the senator (Spencer) has any information of value to the committee about Lane's administration, why doesn't he produce it?"

"I will produce it in my own good time."

The vast audience that jammed the room burst into uproarious applause as Walsh poked verbal jabs at Spencer.

Spencer, visibly nervous and irritated, declared: "I will produce it when I have substantiated the information I have in my possession."

"Do you deny that statement in this article?" asked Walsh.

"I do not deny it."

The row was becoming so heated that Senator Ladd adjourned the committee until tomorrow.

COLUMBUS POLICE FORCE COMBING CITY FOR SLAYERS

Columbus, O., March 27.—Every man on the Columbus police force is to be used today in an attempt to clear up the mystery surrounding the murder of Morris Davis, alleged bootlegger, as he sat in his automobile here last Monday night.

"Drop everything else and give all possible time of yourself and the entire department to getting the murderers of Morris Davis," Safety Director McCune told Police Chief French. A reward of $1,000, half of which is offered by the county commissioners and half by a friend of the dead man, has been posted with Secretary of Police Guthrie for the apprehension of the murderer.

Rocco Strane and Charles Wiggins, arrested in connection with the murder, believed by the police to be the outcome of a bootlegger feud, were released last night. Frank Strang, brother of Rocco; William Kimmelman, better known as Billy Kimm and C. W. ("Chuck") Bennett are held by the police pending investigation.

AMERICAN LEGION WILL USE RADIO

Indianapolis, Ind., March 27.—The American Legion will use the radio to tell America what it is doing, it was announced yesterday at national headquarters of the organization.

The official broadcasting point has been designated as WTAS, at Elgin, Ill. John R. Quinn, National Commander of the American Legion, will initiate use of this method of disseminating legion news and views Sunday, March 30. Programs are to be given twice a week.

CHARGES OF GRAFT ARE BEING PROBED

Cleveland, O., March 27.—Charges of graft and extortion, alleged to have been practiced by dry officers were being probed here today, following the issuance of warrants for four agents working out of the court of justice H. J. Thompson, of Parma.

Two of these agents were lodged in the county jail today, while officers were seeking the others. They are charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. The warrants were issued by Justice Samuel S. Keist, who said that he had received numerous complaints from citizens who declared they had been "fleeced" by alleged dry agents.

RIOTOUS SCENES FEATURE SENATE INVESTIGATION

Friends And Enemies Of Attorney General In Verbal Tilt

Washington, March 27.—The name of the late President Warren G. Harding was dragged sensationally into the mire of the Daugherty investigation today in a tempestuous session of the Wheeler-Brookhart committee, which saw the friends and enemies of the attorney general snarling at each other and hurling charges and counter charges as thick as hailstones.

The spectacle clearly outdid anything else that has gone before in the riotous investigation.

The fireworks started when counsel for Daugherty—Paul Howland, and ex-Senator George E. Chamberlain of Oregon—attempted to cross examine Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of the late Jess Smith, whose startling stories have proved the feature of the investigation to date.

Miss Stinson was asked to name the five men, friends of Daugherty's and Smith's, who, she said yesterday, cleaned up $33,000,000 dealing in Sinclair oil stocks in August of 1922. She had said that Smith told her he and Daugherty were "sore" because they were not in on it.

Senator Brookhart, Republican, of Iowa, as chairman of the committee, would not let Miss Stinson answer the question. He said the committee had decided that inasmuch as Daugherty and Smith were not accused of being in the deal, the names of the five men were not relevant to the inquiry.

Counsel for Daugherty immediately protested, saying that Miss Stinson had clearly intimated there was something "wrong" in this episode, and they demanded the right to clear it up.

"We don't know who these people are," asserted Chamberlain.

"My impression is that Miss Stinson is going to mention among others the name of a president of the United States and the celebrated uplifter, Mr. Vanderlip."

Senator Wheeler, who had previously been tilting with Howland, interrupted angrily: "Mr. Vanderlip is not here to defend himself."

And Senator Brookhart joined in with: "You cannot continue such remarks."

"Well," said Chamberlain, his voice choked with rage, "If Miss Stinson is going to invoke the name of President Harding, we want to know it. If she is going to invoke the name of any other high official we want to know it."

Ted din became terrific, as half a dozen voices tried to get into the record.

"It's now time for me to make a stump speech," yelled Senator Ashurst, above the uproar.

"You want us to walk into your trap," Ashurst shouted, pointing his finger at Daugherty's counsel. "You want it said that this committee has smothered the great name of a man now dead. We have enough to weigh on us now. We won't walk into your trap."

Applause and hisses came from the spectators that choked the room to suffocation.

Wheeler broke in with the charge that Chamberlain and Howland were putting a "forced construction" on Miss Stinson's story of the $33,000,000 deal and his words and manner were such that Chamberlain intervened with the angry remark:

"You're taking advantage of your senatorial immunity to insult people here. You would not dare say these things on the outside."

"I waived all immunity," yelled Wheeler.

Chamberlain declared the whole atmosphere of the place was that of "a police court" and admonished Wheeler to have some dignity.

In the midst of the wrangle, Brookhart excused Miss Stinson from the stand without Daugherty's counsel hardly getting started on their cross examination.

POLICE OFFICIAL TAKES OWN LIFE

Cincinnati, O., March 27.—With a bullet wound self inflicted through his heart, Frank Hall, chief of the county police force, was found dead today in his automobile on Russell Cave pike, outside the city limits.

A warrant for his arrest for having received stolen goods, was issued last night. It is alleged he was implicated with a band of auto thieves. Albert Barry, a sergeant in the department headed by Hall was arrested on a similar charge last night.

Dark Teeth Bleached In Three Minutes

You have always longed for flashing white teeth. And now, at last you can have them—easily, quickly and safely! For scientists have discovered a remarkable new treatment which often in only three minutes bleaches dull dingy discolorations from the teeth, leaving them clear, sparkling white and lustrous. This new treatment, called Bleachodent Combination, consists of a mild safe liquid and a new kind of paste. The liquid curdles and softens the stains, while the paste removes them, and if used daily prevents the formation of future stains. You simply brush teeth with a few drops of the liquid—then use the paste. Almost before you realize it, unsightly surface stains disappear and the teeth take on a dazzling new whiteness and lustre. First application usually leaves teeth whiter than with ten times the securing by old-fashioned methods. Bleachodent Combination is harmless—does not affect enamel as its mild ingredients are intended to act only on surface stains—not on enamel itself. Especially beneficial for children's teeth which stain easily. Get Bleachodent Combination today for a few cents. Be sure you ask for Bleachodent Combination. At all good dealers, such as W. H. Donges, D. D. Jones, Sayre and Hemphill.

GAS EXPLOSION VICTIM
Columbus, March 27.—Flea Oct. 40, a victim of the gas explosion in which three other men were injured and which wrecked the basement of the Columbus Supply company, died at a hospital of his injuries.

The business meeting of the Third Baptist Missionary Society, will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock, at the home of Miss Emma Campbell, on North Taylor Street. All members are requested to be present, for business of importance. Chairman are requested to be prepared to give their monthly reports.

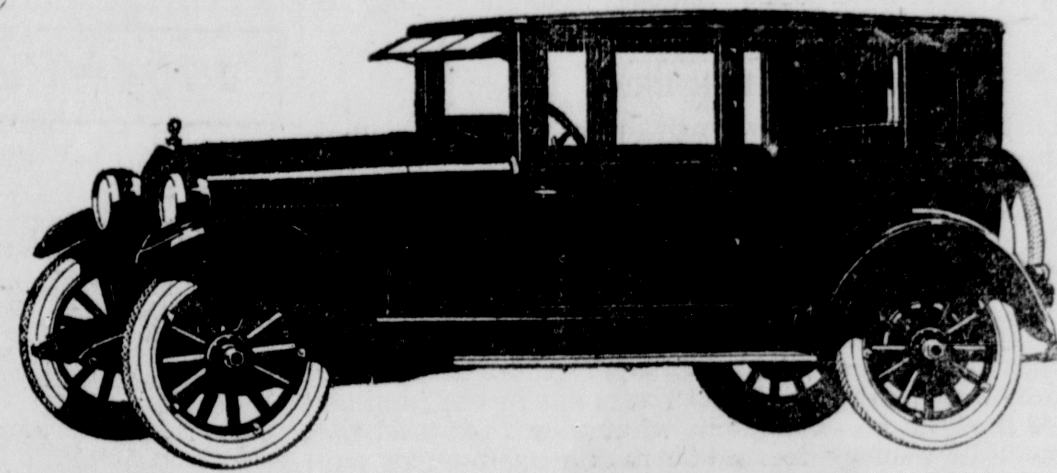

"The Old Essex Pep Plus Hudson Smoothness"

The new Essex has all the stamina for which its forerunner was famous. And its 6-cylinder motor built by Hudson, gives smoothness of performance heretofore exclusive to the Super-Six.

Its economy includes not only exceptional gas, oil and tire mileage, but a policy of minimum maintenance cost with parts prices that will astonish you.

A BUSINESS REPARATION PLAN

Finding by the expert commission to investigate the financial condition of Germany is that Germany can easily pay the 132,000,000 gold marks assessed against it in 1921 for reparations. The expert commission proposed to put Germany in condition to realize these financial possibilities by making a loan secured by mortgage on the railroads and by the issue of gold-secured currency. This plan is plain business and is practicable if each nation concerned will waive all political objections. France must withdraw from the Ruhr and suppress fear of German economic recovery, and Germany must abandon the pretense that working to pay a debt is slavery. If that were true of Germany, it would be equally true of the United States and of every other nation that is in debt.

The plan depends for success on the will to pay of Germany and on the will for peace of all the nations concerned, for the loan can be raised only in the United States and it will be subscribed only if the minds of those nations are set on doing the things necessary to make the security good.

GOT WHAT HE DESERVED

A young man was tried at Pensacola the other day for driving an automobile while intoxicated. The judge sentenced him to thirty days in a convict camp for being drunk, and just as the young man was congratulating himself for getting off so light, the judge read him a lecture upon the enormity of his offense in endangering the lives of others and the added four months to his sentence for driving while drunk.

The man who drives an automobile onto the highway while in an intoxicated condition is a potential murderer, and he should be punished as such. The Pensacola judge was none too severe, and of such sentences were common there would be less drunken driving, and the death toll of automobile accidents would be greatly reduced.

HOPING FOR THE BEST

There is a revolt in Honduras, with the usual menace to American lives and property. The United States, unlike its action in the recent case of Mexico, has forbade the export of arms and munitions to Honduras. While "the marines have landed," there seems to be doubt as to the situation being "well in hand." The Honduran situation is rather complex. Possible a little too complex as yet for any application of the new extension of the Monroe Doctrine that Latin-American questions shall be settled by ballots, not bullets, even though we may find it necessary to supply the bullets when ballots fail. Meanwhile, some of our Senators see in the familiar landing party of marines an example of what they regard as the undesirable American tendency to meddle in the business of our neighbors to the south.

PEACE TO HIS SOUL

One of the strong figures of the great war passes with the death of General Robert George Nivelle, the hero of Verdun. His failure in the Champagne offensive of April 1917, will never blot out the glory of his "They shall not pass" at Verdun. The fact that he was dismissed as commander of the French armies after that terrible and disastrous April offensive is now in process of being forgotten, while his name and fame at Verdun have grown into a world legend of heroism and endurance.

THERE IS A REASON

Announcement in Berlin, of the early recall of the German Ambassador in Washington is a none too pleasant reminder of the "flag incident" at the time of Woodrow Wilson's death. Dr. Wiedfeldt upon that occasion asked for his retirement. The real trouble with Dr. Wiedfeldt, however, is more deeply rooted. He suffers from the complaint that seems chronic in the ranks of German diplomacy; the total inability to judge the sentiment of the country to which he is accredited. He came to Washington in May, 1922. When in January, 1923, the French occupied the Ruhr territory, the German Government was sure that it would have American sympathy, and based its campaign of resistance partially upon this idea. Berlin must have received such assurance from its Washington Embassy, and its Washington Embassy must have blundered. It was a blunder costly to Germany but only one of many similar ones. If Dr. Wiedfeldt's successor is immune from them, he will be a pleasing contrast to other German Ambassadors we have known.—Public Ledger.

BOASTING

If I were a boasting man,
To bragadocio inclined,
If pride of self within me ran
And I should plainly speak my mind,
Then, little baby, scarcely two,
I'd do my boasting all of you.

I'd praise yor beauty to the skies.
I'd swear the songs of summer birds
Which every sunny morning rise,
Have not the sweetness of your words.

I'd make the world believe this, too,
That earth has naught to rival you!

I'd tell in languages gilt with style,
The sunbeams dancing in the air
Have not the witchery of your smile

CEDARVILLE

Mrs. P. M. Gillilan and Mrs. Margaret Tarbox, were hostesses to twenty members of the Home Culture Club, at the home of Mrs. Gillilan, Wednesday afternoon.

A most delightful social afternoon was spent. The refreshments and favors were carried out suggestive of St. Patrick's Day. The little Misses Lucy Gillilan and Esther May Hartman, served the luncheon course, and furnished delightful music for the guests.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Election of student government officers was held at Antioch College, Thursday, after campus electioneering by candidates.

At a political meeting of the students, Wednesday night, each candidate for office made a short speech, presenting the planks in his platform. Robert Straker of Troy, and Adam Schantz, of Dayton, are the two leading nominees for president.

Nor such a wealth of charm to spare
The stars which twinkle in the skies
Envy the radiance of your eyes.

Although disgusting is conceit,
And pride a sorry thing to see,
You are so gloriously sweet
You've made a swagwagger of me.

I say it, and I mean it, too,
There never was a babe like you.

Ten million babies in the land,
Ten million fathers of them proud,
Against the multitude I'll stand
And boast your charms to all the crowd!

No other quite like you could be—
At least, that's how you seem to me.

Once more I have journeyed through city fancywork shops with the idea of reporting on some of the latest handwork ideas for my readers' sakes. Here are a few of the attractive novelty articles I saw:

The New Hairpin Boxes: These were made in the French style; covered with either old-rose or old-blue silk brocade, and decorated with gold lace and clusters of tiny, colored-silk flowers. Apparently boxes of almost any shape had been chosen, so long as they were suitable for holding hairpins. These were covered on the outside with silk brocade, then decorated with gold braid along the seams and corners. Gold lace covered the top of the lid, and small silk flowers gave a dainty finish in the center. All of these hairpin boxes were hand-made, and the maker had used her originality so that no two of them were alike. When I opened one of them, I discovered that it was lined with old-blue silk grosgrain ribbon. This little fancywork article is not only

MAKES FAT PEOPLE SLIM

New York Physician Perfects Harmless Method of Reducing Weight

The loss of as much as a pound of excess fat a day with no harmful results is the record made by many patients of Dr. R. Newman, a licensed practicing physician of 286 Fifth Avenue, New York, who announces that he has perfected a treatment which has quickly rid fat people of excess weight. What is more remarkable is the doctor's statement that he has successfully treated thousands of patients for fat reduction without change of diet or unnecessary exercise. It is also said that fat people who suffer from chronic rheumatism, gout, asthma and high blood pressure obtain great relief from the reduction of their superfluous flesh. Realizing that this sounds almost too good to be true, the doctor has offered to send without charge to anyone who will write him, a free trial treatment to prove his claims, as well as his "Pay-when-reduced" plan. If you want to rid yourself of superfluous fat, write him today, addressing Dr. R. Newman, 286 Fifth Avenue, New York City, Dept. B.

FOR MOTHERS!

This Letter is of Vital Interest to You

Cambridge, Ohio—"During expectancy I was almost a physical wreck. I was nervous, could not sleep, suffered with nausea, or sick stomach, had backaches, pains in my side and bearing pains. I was so near down that I could not do anything. Finally I decided to give Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a trial. I had taken this medicine only a few days when I could see that my nerves were better, and by the time I had taken two bottles I felt as well as anyone could wish to be, did all my work and felt well and strong the remainder of the time. I had comparatively no suffering—was ill just a short time and I had a very fine healthy baby weighing nine pounds. The expectant mother will find 'Favorite Prescription' a great help in many ways."—Mrs. Milton Tipple, 707 S. 10th St.

there with stitches. Add a few leaf-green ribbon-tips, for leaves, and the work is done. Of course the wound pin-part must be completely covered by the flower decorations. These boudoir pins are used to fasten the kimono together, or to catch up a ribbon on ones' boudoir cap—in fact, used in any way that is useful when one is in negligee.

Silver-Bags for the Suitcase: Every woman who has silver toilet articles will want a set of the new flowered-crotonne bags with gray flannel linings and ribbon draw-strings, into which she can slip her toilet articles before putting them into her traveling bag or suitcase. In this way, the silver is protected from scratches. These bags are washable, but owing to the dark gray lining, they do not soil rapidly. (Crotonne with dark colors may be chosen for this same reason.) Make them with square corners, just the size of the various toilet articles—one to fit each article. THIS WOMAN RELIEVED FROM SUFFERING

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A Remarkable Story

Dover, Del.—"I wish every woman would take your wonderful medicine as it has done so much good to me. I had cramps and faint spells and very bad pains. One day I was over to my neighbor's house and she told me I ought to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So I went to the store on my way home and got a bottle, and took the first dose before supper. I have been taking it ever since, and you can hardly believe how different I feel. I had just wanted to lie in bed all the time, and when I started to brush up I would give out in about ten minutes. So you know how badly I felt. I used to go to bed at eight and get up at seven, still tired. Now I can work all day and stay up until eleven, and feel all right all the time. My housework is all I do in summer, but in winter I work in a factory. I have told a good many of my friends, and I have had three come to me and tell me they wouldn't do without the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. SAMUEL MURPHY, 219 Cecil St., Dover, Delaware.

Today's Talks

EVERYTHING

It is a curious fact of our natures that when we say we reject that which is really of us a part, we are actually rejecting ourselves. Everything belongs to everyone. It is the selective process that makes us great and noble and happy.

Even he who hoards great wealth to himself must necessarily have given much back to original sources, though he had no such idea in mind. Our public parks, our conveyances, all the marvelous developments of science and invention, as well as of art and literature, are products that at some stage or other belong to the least of the earth.

And as you look about you, unless you accept the ugly with the beautiful you push aside a portion of that everything which, consciously or unconsciously, belongs to you and is of you a vital part.

Ignorance is sightless, but intelligence has eyes that see all things. The smallest insect has its place. There is not a blade of grass or a (tiny flower or a bird or animal but has its important place in the scheme of this life.

When you think you have nothing you admit your inability to think your ignorance in a vast world of free intelligence.

You cannot get away from the fact that you are an important part in the mosaic of human life—woven into place by the hand of a Master Artist.

Everything—how broad, how vast, how limitless!

In the delightful writings of David Grayson I find this sentence: "If you despise that which is ugly, you do not know that which is beautiful."

And so if you do not look at everything, consider everything, and love everything, you are stunting your growth and missing out on a balanced diet for your soul.

FREIGHT RATES IN 1861 ARE NOTED IN OLD AGREEMENT

If you are at all interested in freight rates—and who isn't?—give yourself a thrill by mulling over these figures for a minute: lumber freight rates, $4 per thousand; lathe rates, 45 cents a thousand and shingles, 46 cents a thousand.

These figures are not the product of a lumber dealer's dream. Neither are they the ravings of a bulldog gone suddenly insane while trying to figure his freight bill. Both, however, might be true.

Rather, though, these are actual freight rate figures made in an agreement between the Dayton and Michigan Railroad and the McDowell and Millen Lumber Company, of this city. Unfortunately the Dayton and Michigan Railroad is now but a memory, having been absorbed by some of the other lines that have succeeded it.

Equally unfortunate, the McDowell and Millen Lumber Company is not here to enjoy the benefits of these rates, though its successors should like very much to put the agreement in effect. For the agreement between the railroad and the lumber company on freight rates was drawn up and signed February 1, 1861, before freight rates became important enough to enter politics.

The ancient contract has been found in old papers in the office of the McDowell and Torrence Lumber Company, of this city, the successor to the original McDowell and Millen Lumber Company. The partners in the original business were Austin McDowell and David Millen, and their lumber yard was located about where the present Central High School stands, and adjacent to the pork packing establishment in which Mr. Millen was also interested.

Under the terms of the old contract the railroad agreed to transport the lumber for the company at the above rates for eleven months, in consideration of the Xenia concern agreeing to use that road for all shipments. Transportation was from Toledo to Xenia, in no shipments less than one car load each. The agreement was signed by McDowell and Millen and by D. J. Anderson, general freight agent of the Dayton and Michigan R. R. Company.

Since those early war days freight rates on lumber have more than doubled, freight rates on lathe have more than trebled and the rates on shingles are practically five times what they were in 1861. Latest rates are: dressed lumber $8.47 a thousand; lathe, $2.10 a thousand and shingles, $2.16 a thousand.

MINE AGREEMENT RATIFIED IS WORD

Indianapolis, March 27.—It was announced here that the new wage scale agreement has been ratified by the members of the United Mine Workers' international organization. Present wages and working conditions will continue under the new agreement, which was negotiated at Jacksonville, Fla., last month, and will be in effect for another three years, beginning April 1. Although the contract embraces only the central competitive field, composed of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and western Pennsylvania, all other coal mining contracts are based on it. At the expiration of the last two preceding wage agreements, the bituminous miners went on strike for a short time.

JAZZ WORTH MORE THAN CARUSO'S TONES.

Al Jolson and Isham Jones

Caruso's golden tones have turned into baser metal and Al Jolson, jazz king, supplants the famous tenor as the gold getter, for Jolson, shown here making his first record, has signed a contract with P. L. Deutsch, of the Brunswick Phonograph Company, which agrees to pay the black face comedian $30,000 a month for four years to make phonograph records—a total of $1,400,000. Playing the saxophone for Jolson is Isham Jones, jazz millionaire, who has made his million in the past five years with his saxophone and his syncopation composition.

MENIAL TASKS ARE DONE BY ANDERSON

Ossining N. Y. March 27.—75,745, who to the outside world is known as William H. Anderson, resigned superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon League, was an early riser in Sing Sing Prison and after the usual preliminaries, including a meager breakfast, was put to work with a mop and pail. Anderson is a member of the reception company, which includes newcomers to Sing Sing, who for ten days clean up inside and outside the prison. Warden Lawes said the prisoner later probably would be assigned to clerical duty. Anderson is the tallest prisoner in Sing Sing.

SENATOR BURKE IN XENIA SPEECHES SAYS PEOPLE MUST ENTER POLITICS

"We must get into politics to protect our own interests," declared Senator J. F. Burke, of Elyria, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Ohio, speaking in Xenia Wednesday evening on "The Business Man in Politics."

Senator Burke spoke twice during the evening, first at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Elks' Lodge, and later before a larger audience at the K. K. K. Tabernacle, on East Third Street.

The speaker stressed the factor of service as an element needed in politics and said that the same standards must be applied in political life as are applied in business, religion and education. Senator Burke urged the intelligent use of the ballot at the polls pointing out that in 1920 less than 50 per cent of those qualified to vote cast ballots that year.

Senator Burke gave figures in support of his statement saying that Senator La Follette of Wisconsin was elected by a vote of 29 per cent of the people; Senator Lodge of Massachusetts by 22 per cent, and Senator Fess of Ohio by 25 per cent. The speaker said:

"A man must enter political life in order to aid in determining what shall be done in relation to his own business or to any enterprise in which he is interested because more and more organized society throughout the state is taking over various enterprises conducted by private interests and is passing legislation affecting institutions which the state does not itself take possession of. The course of politics along this line is shown particularly in the history of the last hundred years. The government today is improving the roads and the federal and national and local governments are joining in such improvements and but a few decades ago private enterprises were improving roads and building bridges and had toll gates here and there compelling people to pay for the trip over the particular improvement.

"So as business men interested in various enterprises some of which are the children of your heart and brain, you are forced to enter into political life to continue to guide and guard the particular enterprise in which you are interested.

"You have absolutely no excuse today as a business man and a citizen for not participating in the primary, learning as far as you can the qualifications of the particular candidate for public office and having your vote count. Not only so, but you can influence as many others as you are able to influence and thereby bring the impact of those votes direct up the candidate without going through the creaking, numerous wheels of a complicated political machine.

"We know that many conditions are not right in the political life of our state and nation and the reason that they are not right to a very large degree is because we have failed in our duties as citizens, possibly, to vote; and in a great many other cases we fail to inform ourselves on or address ourselves to the questions or the candidates at issue, letting the matter go by default.

"The nation has been distressfully disturbed by the revelations of wrong doing and of connivance in wrong doing that have emanated from Washington. The Teapot Dome scandal is truly a scandal and it is not a matter of scandalizing a particular party, but it is scandalizing America and America's government and causing European and Asiatic people to stand aghast at the revelations. There are a good many reasons for this condition, but I believe the chief of these to be the fact that business and professional people have been indifferent to their obligations as citizens and to their tolerance of a lower standard of honesty of political affairs in their community, state and nation, than they would tolerate for a moment in the particular business with which they are connected.

"I believe the system whereby officers use the public treasury or the legislature of the state through the creation of jobs to pay personal political debts in vicious and it is contrary to fundamental principles of political honesty. It is only a step from this promising of jobs and creating of jobs to the next step that is taken by public officials in giving contracts to contractors who have aided in furnishing campaign funds. This favoritism is well known and we believe is equally as vicious of not more so than the other condition, and then it is only a step further when men are favored with contracts who have not contributed to the campaign funds but who are willing and do contribute to possibly a deficit that has been created in the campaign; and then it is only a step further to the situation where a man contributes to a future campaign.

"The same is true of the highway department of the state of Ohio.

"I recognize that subordinates and assistants should always be appointed, if possible, from those who are in harmony with the ideas of the administrator. But the administrator himself should believe that the state as trustee for its wards, that the state as the agent for the building of highways, that the state as the agent of society for the enforcement of its decrees, such as the prohibition law demands men who think more of the office of trusteeship, of giving an honest dollar's value for every dollar received in the highway department, and who believe the laws should be enforced without fear and favor, as more important than that the aspirant of the office should receive the O. K. of certain individuals in the political machinery who in many cases have considered the first object of the political party to serve themselves and a great deal later to serve the rest of their party friends and finally, if there is any thing left, the state itself."

Senator Burke was introduced at the tabernacle by Jacob Kany.

Greene Countians Who Have Achieved Distinction

(Editor's Note—This is number 32 of a series of articles concerning Greene County citizens and former citizens who have attained nation-wide prominence in their chosen fields of endeavor. It is interesting to note that Greene County has furnished more than its share of people who have attained renown.)

JOHN M. KYLE

The name of Kyle has been closely associated with the history of Greene County for many years—so much so, that two people of that name have had their biographies published in this series, and now a third is added. The late John Merrill Kyle, minister and missionary was a brother of Judge C. H. Kyle of this city, who for many years occupied the bench of Common Pleas Court in Greene County.

The late Dr. Kyle was born in Cedarville, May 19, 1856, the son of a James and Maria Jane Tarbox Kyle. He received his degree of A. B. at Wooster, in 1877. He received his A. M. degree at the school in 1880 and in 1882 his alma mater gave him the degree of D. D.

From 1877 to 1878 Dr. Kyle was a student at Princeton Theological Seminary, preparing himself for the ministry and he received his degree of B. D. at Western Theological Seminary, at Pittsburgh, in 1880. In the same year he was ordained a minister of the Presbyterian Church, and took his first pastorate at Fredericksburg, Ohio, where he served a Presbyterian congregation two years.

In 1882 Dr. Kyle went to Brazil, South America, as a missionary under the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, and served there twenty-five years, returning to this country permanently in 1907. In 1909 Dr. Kyle became missionary to the Portuguese, at Lowell, Massachusetts, under the Congregational Home Missionary Society. He was pastor of a Portuguese Church there, filling his duties at Lowell at night, and also administering to a congregation in Boston. It was while he was laboring in Lowell that his death took place about six years ago.

ADDRESSES GRANGE MEMBERS IN ALL DAY CONVENTION

The farmers of today have three things to learn, that of organizing, co-operating and educating, according to E. S. Tussing, of Winchester, Ohio, near Columbus, member of the State Grange Executive Board, who addressed 150 members of Pomona Grange, at Charity Grange Hall, on the Dayton pike, at an all-day meeting, Wednesday.

Mr. Tussing spoke from his experiences as a market gardener, allied with Grange work for a number of years. He declared the city and country must co-operate and that differences between the two could be laid at the door of misunderstanding. He said while the cry is to educate the farmer, it really is the city dwellers who need educating, on the value of the rural communities.

One of the biggest problems of the Grange is to secure the interest of the young people of the rural community the speaker said. This may be effected by interesting programs, and musical work, he added.

Mr. Tussing appeared in the place of Mrs. Barger, of the state juvenile department, who was scheduled to address the meeting.

The all-day program, opened with conferring of the fifth degree on five candidates. A business session was held before dinner, when the grange committee appointed to confer with the Greene County Fair Board relative to prizes on Grange exhibits at the fair, reported. The Fair Board has agreed to allow the following prizes: first, $125; second $100; third, $75; fourth, $55; and fifth and sixth, $45. Five granges of the county are making arrangements to exhibit at the fair, and it is thought that an additional two will plan for exhibits this year.

The lecture hour was featured by a paper on "The Grange and the Community," by Miss Mary Jones of Caesarcreek Grange. Miss Josephine Boyer, of Charity Grange, sang a solo and Joseph Smith of Caesarcreek Grange, gave a reading. Selections were given throughout the day by the Xenia Grange orchestra.

The next meeting of Pomona Grange will be held with Caesarcreek Grange at the Caesarcreek High School, the last Wednesday in May.

EASTER CAROLING CUSTOM IS URGED

Although it is only a few years since outgoing Easter caroling was initiated in this country its spread has been so rapid that it is probable that hundreds of cities will adopt the plan this year and that before long it will be as universal as Christmas caroling, with which it has many points of similarity, according to a statement issued by the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music.

To help those who wish to bring the beautiful Old World custom to their community and rehearse singing groups for the purpose, the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music has published a booklet, "Stories of

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes. Use 'Mother's Friend' as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., B.A.-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. 'Mother's Friend' is sold by all drug stores—everywhere."

the Easter Carol," obtainable free upon request to its office at 105 West 40th Street, New York. The booklet, a reprint of a bulletin of the same title issued by Community Service, contains suggestions for organizing carolers—usually church choirs, Sunday school classes, girls' clubs and similar groups—and gives brief sketches of the six most popular Easter hymns.

SNAP SHOTS

Several hundred houses were burned in a fire which swept Zoshigaya, a suburb of Tokyo, Japan. Twenty persons were injured and 3,000 are homeless.

Statistics compiled by the census bureau show the annual death rate to have been 12.6 per 1,000 of population in the first nine months of 1923 compared with 11.6 for the same period of 1922. The annual birth rate was 23.8 per 1,000 compared with 23.1.

MILK PRODUCERS HEAR ADDRESS ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Every farmer and milk producer in the district should be allied with the Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers' Association, declared Joseph Lippincott, Dayton distributor, before members of the Bellbrook Cream Company, at the meeting held in that village, Wednesday night. Mr. Lippincott stressed the importance of co-operation between the distributor and the association, and said that the producer who was not allied with the organization was missing the fundamental values in the sale of his product.

Waldo Elliott was elected president of the Bellbrook company, with the other following officers: Weller Haines, vice-president; Henry B. Weller, secretary; Carl Peterson, treasurer; and John Turner, junior, advisory councilman.

FORMER XENIAN
KILLED WEDNESDAY
IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Oliver Good, 49, Columbus, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Good, West Second Street, died in Columbus Wednesday night following injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile at Town and Sixth Streets, Columbus, about 9 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Mr. Good was injured about the head, and it is believed his skull was fractured. He had just stepped from the curb when he was struck by an automobile driven by J. E. Barrett, 528 Keifer Street, Columbus. Patrolmen Bates and King took the injured man to St. Francis Hospital and he was later taken to his home at 183 South Sixth Street.

Mr. Good was born in Xenia attending the public schools and Central High School. He left Xenia about thirty years ago to locate in Tiffin, and removed from that city to Columbus about ten or twelve years ago. He was conducting a successful interior decorating business in Columbus at the time of his death.

Three years ago, Mr. Good married Miss Mary Henry of Urichsville who survives him. There are no children. He also leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Good of this city and one brother, Louis Good, who is conducting a music studio at Huntington, W. Va.

The body will arrive in Xenia from Columbus either Thursday evening or Friday morning. Funeral services will be held at the Woodland Cemetery Chapel at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon with burial there also.

MASONIC FEATURES ON CLUB PROGRAM

Other features on the program for the Masonic Club meeting, Friday night, are being announced by the committee in charge of arrangements. Professor Kolb, of the O. S. and S. O. Home, will accompany the boys' glee club of the institution; to the men's gathering, and conduct several songs. Song slides will be thrown on a screen, and Professor Kolb will lead the entire congregation in singing various numbers.

Four hundred invitations have been issued to Masons over the county, to the party. Dr. Moses Breeze, of Columbus will deliver the principal talk of the evening.

The final report of the Masonic Temple Association will be made at the meeting.

EARTHQUAKES ARE DISCUSSED IN TALK

A. C. Swinnerton, professor of geology at Antioch College discussed earthquakes in all their various phases at a meeting of the college Science Club, Wednesday night.

In speaking of the late Japanese disaster, Professor Swinnerton mentioned the importance of constructing buildings that will better withstand the shock of earthquakes. He brought out that the various phenomena as fires, fissures and tremblings are only superficial expressions of the underlying movements that are bound to go on as long as the earth is fit to live on.

CHILD SLIGHTLY
HURT IN ACCIDENT

Accidentally putting her foot on the accelerator of her automobile while attempting to stop in front of the offices of Drs. B. R. and R. R. McClellan, East Second Street, Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Wilbur Lutz, Arbor Avenue, Dayton, drove her machine into a tree near the curb.

Phyllis Lutz, her four-year-old daughter was slightly hurt when thrown against the machine by the sudden stop against the tree, and was carried into the office of physicians. When it was discovered four front teeth were loosened by the accident, the child was taken to the office of Dr. W. H. Sillito, dentist.

Mrs. Lutz and Miss Cora Lutz, also of Dayton, but formerly of this city, were unhurt. The machine was only slightly damaged.

CRIME IS MYSTERY

Steubenville, March 27—County authorities this morning were summoned to Connersville, this county, where the murdered body of a well dressed man was found along a lonely road. There were two bullet holes in his body and a deep gash in his head.

Only meagre details of the crime have been received here.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

ORGANIST GIVES CHURCH RECITAL

Wednesday night at Christ Episcopal Church, the Rev. Don Copeland, curate and organist of Christ Church, Dayton, gave a short recital on the new organ at the close of the service.

The numbers were sacred pieces of some of the greatest composers. In rendering them, Mr. Copeland gave his audience a splendid exhibition of his ability as a pipe organist. In that capacity, both as a recitalist and as a teacher of the instrument, he has already made a name for himself in Dayton during the short time he has been a resident there. This, however, was the first opportunity that he has

WILL HEAR DAMAGE CASE IN GREENE COUNTY BY RULING

Assurance that the case of Mary Matthews administratrix against Louis Vandervoort, will be heard in Greene County is given in the action of the State Supreme Court in overruling a motion of the defense for an order directing the Greene County Court of Appeals to certify its record in the case.

The case is one in which the plaintiff is seeking to collect a judgment in the sum of $26,000 for civil damages, for the death of the plaintiff's husband, Elvas Matthews. Matthews, a Xenia policeman, was shot to death while patrolling his beat on East Main Street in December 1922.

The civil action charges the defendant, Louis Vandervoort, with doing the shooting. Vandervoort is now in the State Penitentiary for the confessed slaying of Emory McCreight, Wilmington policeman, and Mrs. McCreight is plaintiff in a similar damage action filed against Vandervoort in Clinton County Courts.

When the case was filed here, the defense counsel, L. T. Marshall, filed a motion to set aside the service of summons obtained by the plaintiff on the grounds the service was illegal. The motion was sustained in Common Pleas Court and the case dismissed, which if sustained by higher courts, would have meant the case would have to be filed and tried in Franklin County Courts, the present residence of the defendant.

Attorneys for the plaintiff, however, appealed from the decision and the Court of Appeals reversed Common Pleas Court and held that the service was legal, remanding the case for trial. The defense then carried the motion to Supreme Court, and the decision just granted by that body, again holds the service legal and remands the case for trial here.

Defense will now have to file an answer to the petition in Common Pleas Court, and the case will be set down for trial. C. L. Darlington and F. L. Johnson are attorneys for the plaintiff.

FINED IN POLICE COURT

J. L. Miller, Dayton, was fined $10 and costs by Judge E. D. Smith in Police Court Thursday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was arrested in the Pennsylvania Railroad yards Wednesday night by Cliff Latimer, railroad patrolman. A companion, taken in custody at the same time was charged with loitering but the charge was later dismissed.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Evil Shepherd

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

She did not move. The touch of his fingers grew firmer.

"We have entered upon an allegory," she murmured. "You are preserving me from the depths."

He laughed harshly.

"I!" he exclaimed, with a sudden touch of real and fierce bitterness which brought the light dancing into her eyes and a spot of color to her cheeks. "I preserve you! Why, you can never hear my name without thinking of sin, of crime of some sort! Do you seriously expect me to ever preserve anyone from anything?"

"You haven't made any very violent attempts to corrupt me," she reminded him.

"Women don't enter much into my scheme of life," he declared. "They played a great part once. It was a woman, I think, who first headed me off from the pastures of virtue."

"I know," she said softly. "It was Margaret's mother."

His voice rang out like a pistol-shot. "How did you know that?"

She turned away from the rail and threw herself back in her chair. His hand, however, she still kept in hers.

"Uncle Joe was minister at Rio, you know, the year it all happened," she explained. "He told us the story years ago—how you came back from Europe and found things were not just as they should be between Margaret's mother and your partner, and how you killed your partner."

His nostrils quivered a little. One felt that the fire of suffering had touched him again for a moment.

"Yes, I killed him," he admitted. "That is part of my creed. The men who defend their honor in the law courts are men I know nothing of. This man would have wronged me and robbed me of my honor. I bade him defend himself in any way he thought well. It was his life or mine. He was a poor fighter and I killed him."

"And Margaret's mother died from the shock."

"She died soon afterward," he murmured. "The stars grew paler. The passing vehicles, with their brilliant lights, grew fewer and fewer. The breeze which had been so welcome at first turned into a cold night wind. She led the way back into the room."

"I must go," he announced.

"You must go," she echoed, looking up at him. "Good-by!"

She was so close to him that his embrace, sudden and passionate though it was, came about almost naturally.

She lay in his arms with perfect content and raised her lips to his.

He broke away. He was himself again, self-furious.

"Lady Cynthia," he said, "I owe you my most humble apologies. The evil that is in me does not as a rule break out in this direction."

"You dear, foolish person," she laughed, "that was good, not evil. You like me, don't you? But I know you do. There is one crime you have always forgotten to develop—you haven't the simplest idea in the world how to lie."

"Yes, I like you," he admitted. "I have the most absurd feeling for you that any man ever found it impossible to put into words. We have indeed strayed outside the world of natural things," he added.

"Why?" she murmured. "I never felt more natural or normal in my life. I can assure you that I am loving it. I feel like muslin gowns and primroses and the scene of those first March violets underneath a warm hedge where the sun comes sometimes. I feel very natural indeed, Sir Timothy."

"What about me?" he asked harshly. "In three weeks' time I shall be fifty years old."

"And in no time at all I shall be thirty—and entering upon a terrible period of spinsterhood!"

"Spinsterhood?" he scoffed. "Why, whenever the society papers are at a loss for a paragraph, they report a few more offers of marriage to the ever-beautiful Lady Cynthia."

"Don't be sarcastic," she begged. "I haven't yet had the offer of marriage I want, anyhow."

"You'll get one you don't want in a moment," he warned her.

She made a little grimace.

"Don't!" she laughed nervously. "How am I to preserve my romantic notions of you as the emperor of the criminal world, if you kiss me as you did just now—you kissed me rather well—and then ask me to marry you? It isn't your role. You must light a cigarette now, pat the back of my hand, and swagger off to another of your haunts of vice."

"In other words, I am not to propose?" Sir Timothy said slowly.

"You see how decadent I am," she sighed. "I want to toy with my pleasures. Besides, there's that scamp of a brother of mine coming up to have a drink—I saw him get out of a taxi—and you couldn't get it through in time, not with dignity."

The rattle of the lift as it stopped was plainly audible. He stopped and kissed her fingers.

"I fear some day," he murmured, "I shall be a great disappointment to you."

"Price Class"

the mysterious stranger in the motor industry

Does a difference in price indicate a difference in quality? Why is one car priced 25% to 50% higher than another of the same quality? The 4 questions that a buyer should ask when considering any car.

HERE are facts based on world's engineering authority. If you have any intention of buying an automobile, you are urged to read them.

No "Price Class"

There are only two kinds of automobiles today. Economically produced cars which give you more for your money. And cars which are not, and give you less.

Price does not indicate intrinsic worth. But an individual maker's cost of production.

Hence two cars may show a price difference of $400 to $1,200 and more. And be of the same quality.

The difference in price simply shows that it cost one maker more to make this car than the other. Judging value on price, this is folly. Price class is a myth.

Where the Difference Comes in Studebaker, producing 150,000 cars yearly, has reduced engineering cost to $3.33 per car.

This is based on a total engineering cost of $500,000 a year, which is the least on which any manufacturer can maintain an efficient engineering department.

Thus a manufacturer producing but 20,000 cars a year must add $25 per car for engineering, or eight times as much as Studebaker.

Other fixed overheads have been reduced proportionately. And these influence Studebaker prices.

A set of body dies costs $100,000. It will produce many thousand sets of body stampings, each one as perfect as though there were only a dozen made.

By building 50,000 bodies from a single set of dies, Studebaker reduces the die cost per body to only $2.00.

The average small manufacturer whose volume will enable him to build only 5,000 bodies from a set of dies in the same time in which Studebaker builds 50,000 has to charge each body $20 for die cost. The difference of $18 is in the price but not in the body. The customer pays it but he gets nothing tangible for it. It is one of the penalties of uneconomical manufacture.

Thus a car priced at $1,200 to $1,400 can be sold as low as $1045 when produced economically in quantity.

Why Studebaker excels the world in body building

For 72 years Studebaker has been a builder of quality vehicles.

This historical tradition has been inbred in generation after generation of coach-makers. And the Indiana city of South Bend is known as a world-Mecca of artisans of this craft.

In the modern $10,000,000 Studebaker body plants, there are sons and fathers and grandfathers working side by side. Their religion is fine coach building. And this is reflected in their work.

As fine body builders, Studebaker stands supreme. No other maker has the experience of Studebaker. No other the Studebaker traditions to inspire him.

Such a car is the Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car, at $1045. A clear difference of between $155 to $355.

The uneconomical manufacturer is not profiteering. He is unfortunately situated, that is all.

Equalled Only by Costliest Foreign and American Makes

All Studebaker models are equipped with Timken bearings. There are few cars in America, regardless of price, which equal ours on this point. In our Light-Six, for instance, we put more Timken bearings than are used in any competitive car, within $1,500 of its price.

We subject Studebaker cars to 30,000 inspections. That requires 1,200 men. All told over 70,000 hand and machine operations are performed in the manufacture of a Studebaker car. In so many operations, though each one is small, there is great opportunity for economy and savings. 15% premium is paid on many steels to insure Studebaker specifications instead of "commercial run" used in cars many times Studebaker price.

No finer car can be built than the Studebaker of today. Only famous foreign cars and the most costly of American cars, compare.

See a Studebaker—Then Decide

Buy no car until you've seen a Studebaker. Go over it, point for point. Consult any unbiased expert. Ask your banker. And you will own a Studebaker.

Get an Answer to These 4 Questions Before Buying Any Car

1—Is this an assembled car? Or "partly" assembled. Insist on this answer. Assembled cars pay a profit to from 75 to 100 parts makers alone.

2—What sort of bearings? Studebakers are Timken-equipped. Everlasting smoothness and quiet performance result.

3—How many cars a year does this maker produce? Small productions mean either a higher price or cheaper car.

4—What sort of upholstery? Studebaker closed models are done in Chase Mohair, the finest material for this purpose known. Open models are upholstered in genuine leather.
